OFFICE OF THE HEADMASTER

May 29, 1979

Dear Sixth Form:

Through your many contributions to the life of the school, both collectively and individually, you have had a significant impact on Brooks in your years here. You leave a different school from the one to which you came several years ago: Different--and mostly better I am glad to say--because of what you have given to it of yourselves. You should know that we welcome your influence for it is chiefly through our relationships with you, and other classes over the years, that we find our own fulfillment. I hope you have sensed that you mean much to us and that you will continue to do so in the years ahead.

For our part, we hope we have made a difference to you. In fact we are presumptuous enough to suspect that we have done so in a variety of ways which may take some years to become clear to you. If we are right, I hope you will be glad about what Brooks comes to mean to you. You may grow apart from us in time and space but I hope you will stay close in spirit.

On the day I wrote this farewell letter to you all, you gave Brooks a beautiful maple tree. From all of your friends, heartfelt thanks for such a thoughtful and appropriate present.

Mrs. Aitken and I will miss you. Please keep in touch with us. God bless you --

Sincerely,

Peter Aitken

DEDICATION

The class of '79 would like to dedicate this yearbook to Dr. Edward J. Broaddus. Through his continuous contributions to the infirmary and the playing fields, he has been a great asset to Brooks School. The caring spirit of this fine physician will be forever with us.

"It was the best of times, it was the worst of times, it was the age of wisdom, it was the age of foolishness, it was the epoch of belief, it was the epoch of incredulity, it was the season of Light, it was the season of Darkness, it was the spring of hope, it was the winter of despair, we had everything before us, we had nothing before us, we were all going direct to Heaven, we were all going direct the other way."

When I was young, they packed me off to school and taught me how not to play the game. I didn't mind if they groomed me for success, or if they said that I was just a fool. So I left there in the morning with their God tucked underneath my arm. Their half-assed smiles and the book of rules. So I asked this God a question, and by way of firm reply, he said "I'm not the kind you have to wind up on Sundays." So to my old headmaster (and to anyone who cares); before I'm through I'd like to say my prayers, "I don't believe you, you've got the whole damn thing all wrong." He's not the kind you have to wind up on Sundays . . . In your pomp and all your glory you're a poorer man than me. As you lick the boots of death born out of fear.

Every man has a place, in his heart there's a space,
and the world can't erase his fantasies
Take a ride in the sky, on my ship fantasy
All your dreams will come true, right away.

As you glide in your stride with the wind, as you fly away give a smile from your lips, and say
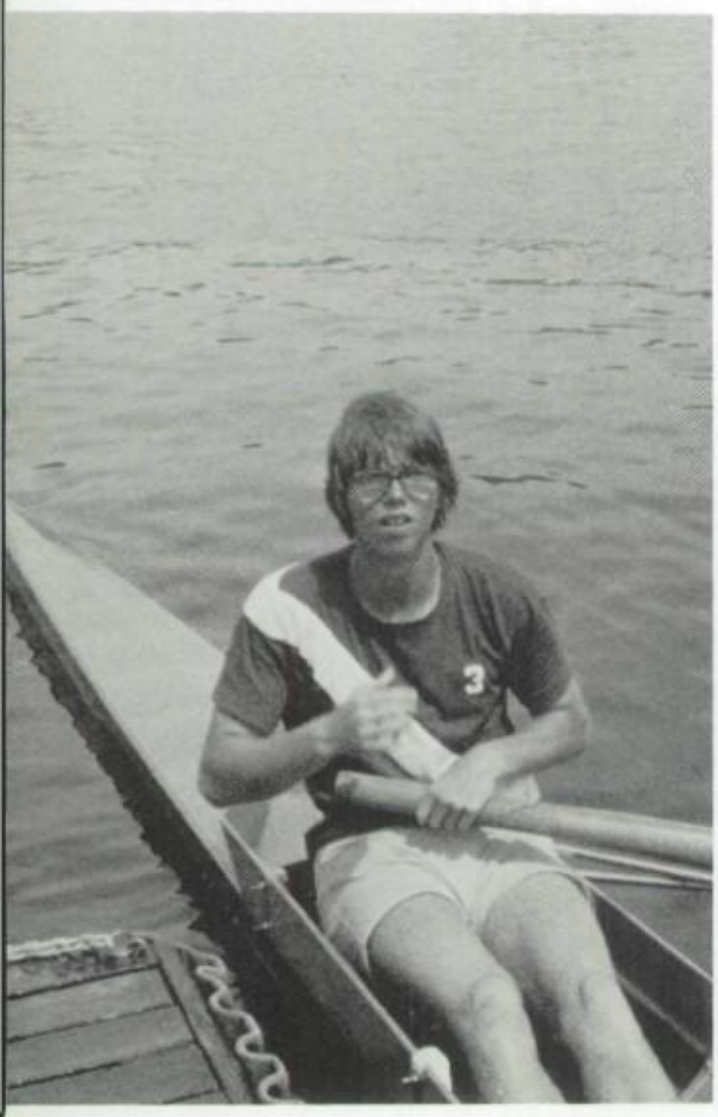
I am free, yes I'm free, now I'm on my way.

Come to see, victory, in the land called fantasy
Loving life, a new decree, bring your mind to everlasting liberty
— Earth, Wind & Fire —



Ticking away the moments that make up a dull day,
You fritter and waste the hours in an offhand way.

Tired of lying in the sunshine staying home to watch the rain.
You are young and life is long and there is time to kill today.
And then one day you find ten years have got behind you. No one told you when to run, you missed the starting gun.

And you run and you run to catch up with the sun, but it's sinking. And racing around to come up behind you again. The sun is the same in a relative way, But you are older and shorter of breath and one day closer to death.

The time is gone, the song is over, thought I'd something more to say.

28 — Dance in auditorium — HPA declares "No Naughtiness"; however, students outclass security.

30 — HPA declares holiday.

31 — SPC meets and "The table job" is pulled.

November

1 — Brooks soccer prevails over Belmont in double overtime darkness.

2 — Holiday for all.

4 — Sgt. Steinner respects Brooks students; drug bust winds up as a traffic ticket.

11 — Soccer clinches second in Gummery cup league.

21 — First snow sneaks in during the night.

December

2 — Apartment isn't the same after Reardon fans congregate in Boston.

12 — The infirmary is streaked.

January

4 — King replaces the Duke; drinking age sure to go up.

17 — Shah leaves Iran, possibly forever.

OUR BEST TO YOU seven days a week. Monday through Saturday, the Eagle-Tribune is everything a great daily newspaper should be with complete local, regional, national and world news, sports and scores of features to inform and entertain. And the Sunday Eagle-Tribune is everything a great Sunday newspaper should be with TELEGUIDE, the best TV book around, FUNDAY SUNNIES, a real comic book with more than 30 popular strips all in full color, FAMILY WEEKLY, America's best-read Sunday magazine and much, much more. Best of all, home delivery for seven days is only $1.25 per week.

March 9, 1979

For the Young Democrats of Brooks School:

These words are written for you.

They are for you to remember your work here at Brooks School; to remember your defeats as well as your victories; and to draw from them in the days ahead.

They are for you to remember the friends you made here; the good strong ones who were close when things were difficult; the ones who could bring home the truth, that you were never really alone.

They are for you to remember your commitments to this country and its government. Much has been given to you, so much is expected. Use the things you have learned to make your country better. That is your heritage.

And finally, these words are for you, to remember my gratitude for your efforts. Your work, and your commitment to excellence in government have always been a source of great strength.

You have my deepest thanks. Now go on with great courage!

Being editor of the yearbook was an extremely time-consuming job. Even so, it was fun doing it, and with the great help of Chris Holbrook it is now completed. This year seniors were only given ½ a page to place more emphasis on school activities. I hope you enjoyed it.
